If you are still refilling cartridges it's time to consider installing a continuous ink system and eliminate the hassle of having to remove cartridges to refill and then running endless head cleans.

About Continuous Ink Systems

If you are refilling your cartridges why not also investigate the time and savings you will achieve with our continuous ink systems? You only need to fill the external tanks with ink. You never have to remove the cartridge set which means you don't have to waste time and ink running head clean after head clean to get the ink flowing properly.
