There are ample benefits of a portable solar charger. Solar battery chargers use energy from the sun to power devices, you don't have to be anywhere near an electrical socket to use one, which means that if the batteries in your cell phone, iPod or MP3 player decide to fizzle out all you have to do to bring them back to life is find a warm sunny spot for your solar charger. And, of course, without the need for electricity solar chargers have no impact on the environment.
