How to Cast a Death Spell to  Enemy Without Evidence

Miscarriage spells are used to prevent pregnancies from reaching their full term— but virtually everybody already knew that. The major concern that is rocking the magic community and is continuously making the headline is the possibility of using voodoo dolls to cast miscarriage spells.

These spells can either be cast on oneself to terminate your pregnancy or cast on another pregnant person. To answer the question that is probably running through your mind at the moment, people go through different things in life. While some people are having it all easy and glamorous, others are barely getting through the stress from everyday life — as they say, taking each day as it comes.

The idea is that children are loved and virtually everyone would like to have one or a couple of babies sometimes in life. However, there are times when you know that having a baby is not right for you. For instance, if a young girl who is still in school gets pregnant for a guy who can barely fend for himself; it will be illogical to keep the pregnancy because both individuals are incapable of meeting the need of the baby. And who knows, their parents or families may not have what it takes to render any form of support as well.
